Mother and her family and friends are Mennonites, so it's a psychological totalistic exclusive group that is known for condoning child abuse. It's a double whammy, but we have had those before and have material for this exclusive group stuff. We have the knives and a note Laura wrote to the boys that their mother is with them. Will check in end of day 1 tomorrow. Check out www.rickross.com and then Mennonites, and if you didn't already know, this is the challenge to help them believe there is only one way out because of the law and exposing their mother and their group to outside scrutiny. This just means that custody won't change and they are under dad's custodial authority, and their mom will have to meet conditions to be able to have a monitored contact, which won't happen, but we let them know we try. Randy
